

shrimp is a common food. Shrimp shells are left after the shrimp is eaten. Our team is thinking of a way to reuse the shrimp shell since it is not environmentally friendly to throw them away. At the same time, we are taught that oysters shells can neutralize the acidic water and remove the substances in water. Therefore, we are thinking whether shrimp can do the same thing as the oyster do.